

DEMOCRATS WILL VOTE THURSDAY

Prospects Are That The Vote Will Be Light.—Bad Weather Conditions.

CANDIDATES BUSY IN ROUND UP

Polls Will Be Open From 6 A. M. Until 8 P. M.—List of Candidates.

Tomorrow the Jackson county Democratic primary will be held and the voters of that party will have an opportunity to express their preferences for candidates. The polls will be open from 6 a. m. until 8 p. m.

While efforts will be made by the workers and the candidates and their friends to get out a large vote, it is not expected that they will be successful and the results in some of the contests are therefore rendered more uncertain. The fact that the number of candidates is not as large as usual has had an influence which has caused enthusiasm and interest not to be as strong as in some contests in the past. Many of the inspectors and leaders as they have visited headquarters recently have reported that the vote in different sections of the county would be light. The rains and resulting bad roads the men have stated would keep many voters at home. The snow Tuesday night and the weather today make the prospects of getting out the vote worse. Candidates and their friends are figuring on the probable effects of the light vote on the different candidacies. Naturally it is expected that the vote in the rural districts will be more affected by weather conditions than in the towns and this will possibly influence results in the primary. The candidates are all busy in the final round up.

The names which will appear on the ballot for the various offices will be:

For congress, Lincoln Dixon. State senator, Edward P. Elsner. Representative, John C. Branaman. Judge of 40th judicial circuit, Joseph H. Shea.

Prosecutor, Noble Hays, Abraham C. Branaman, John H. Underwood. Sheriff, Albert Kasting and Van Robertson.

Auditor, Lewis Ed Jennings and Albert Luedtke.

Treasurer, John F. Belding and August J. Vornholt.

Commissioner 2nd district, Sherman Hall; commissioner 3rd district, James M. Fleetwood.

Coroner, William C. Daily and William A. Dickmeyer.

Voting Places.

For Democratic primary Feb. 22, 1912. All voters south of the B. & O. railroad will vote at S. D. Hill's electric shoe repairing shop, No. 207 South Chestnut street, five doors north of the Catholic church.

All voters north of the B. & O. railroad will vote at the second-hand store room formerly occupied by Bolinger's laundry, No. 11 North Chestnut street. f21

The polls for the Democratic primary will be open Thursday from 6 a. m. to 8 p. m. f21

IS FOR ROOSEVELT

Noble T. Moore Candidate For Delegate to National Convention.

The first positive local evidence that a fight for Roosevelt delegates to the Republican national convention is to be made in this district was afforded today when Noble T. Moore, a prominent Republican worker of this city, formally announced that he will be candidate for national delegate. He has already begun the work of notifying the Republicans of the fourth district of his candidacy and he expects to make an aggressive campaign for the honor.

Mr. Moore is a pronounced advocate of the nomination of Col. Roosevelt. He is well acquainted with the Republicans of the county and has been active in the party organization for a number of years. He was secretary of the county committee during the last campaign and was a candidate for county chairman this year, being defeated by only three votes.

DIED.

KOBER:—Martin Kober, a shoe and harness maker and one of the oldest business men of Brownstown, died quite suddenly Tuesday evening about 7 o'clock at his home after an hour's illness of heart trouble.

He had worked all day and closed his place of business as was his custom at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. He complained of not feeling well when he went home but his wife did not think of anything serious as he was always strong and healthy. At 6 o'clock he suffered an attack of heart trouble and the family physician was called; in less than half an hour he expired. He was born in Germany sixty-one years ago and came to Brownstown when 19 years of age. The widow and seven children survive.

BURRELL:—Maurice Burrell, age 27 years, died Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Burrell, in Brownstown, after an illness of several weeks of heart trouble. He was born in Jackson county, September 24, 1884, and spent most of his boyhood in Brownstown. In 1906 he was united in marriage to Miss Mabel Denny who, with the parents survive. Mr. Burrell united with the First Methodist church in 1902. He possessed many qualities of noble manhood.

The funeral services will be held from the M. E. Church Saturday afternoon at 1:30, conducted by Rev. Edward F. Schneider assisted by Rev. L. V. Rule of the Presbyterian church.

The Elks and Masonic orders will have charge of the services at the grave.

BOUND OVER

Young Man Waives Preliminary. Record Being Investigated.

Edward Burns, the young man from Fitchburg, Mass., who broke into the Day Light Store and Postal office Monday night, was arraigned in Mayor Swope's court Tuesday evening and waived a preliminary. He was bound over to circuit court on a charge of burglary and was taken to Brownstown this morning to jail. He has written to his father in Fitchburg telling him of his trouble and the officers have written to the Fitchburg authorities asking for the young man's record. Burns claims that this is the first serious trouble he has been in, that he was on his way to Lincoln, Nebraska where he has relatives to seek work, that he had been on the road several weeks, was broke, tired and hungry and that under this influence he committed the crime here. He says that under ordinary circumstances he would not have been guilty of the act.

THE ASSESSORS

Will Soon Be After You.—Start out March 1.

The township assessors and their deputies will start out March 1 on the work of listing property of Jackson county citizens for taxation. Real estate is not assessed this year which will make the work lighter than it was last year.

At the January meeting of assessors at Indianapolis with the state tax board resolutions were adopted outlining taxation policies to be followed by county and township assessors in the assessment of property this year. The resolutions merely seek to recommend courses of action to be followed by assessors and the individual environment of each of the officials will determine to a great extent how closely the recommendations of the January meeting are followed.

In many of the schedules adopted at the meeting there was no change recorded. The proposed valuation of horses, ponies and mules follows: First class roadsters, $350 to $450; farm horses, $100 to $150; 2-year-olds, $75 to $100; 1-year-olds, $50 to $75; registered stallions, $500 to $5,000; registered mares, $400; graded stallions, $200 to $400; race horses, $500 upward; Shetland ponies $75 to $125; Shetland colts, $25 to $40; jacks, $250 to $500; first-class mules, $100 to $150; 2-year-old mules, $75 to $100; yearlings, $50 to $75.

Other assessments on stock were recommended as follows: Registered bulls, $50 upward; registered cows, $40 upward; common cows, $20 to $40; all kinds stock and fat cattle at market prices, March 1, 1912; registered sheep, $10 to $20; fat sheep and lambs, market price, March 1; all other sheep, $4 to $10; goats, $1 to $6; registered hogs, $10 and upward; common brood sows, $8 to $15; fat hogs, market price, March 1; poultry, $3 a dozen; fine blooded poultry, $2 a single bird and upward; turkeys, $5 a dozen.

The report is that James Coulin will in a few days, retire as foreman of the B. & O. S-W. shops at Washington and will be succeeded by W. H. Keller, now foreman of the shops at Flora, Ill. The report is considered reliable. It is not known what Coulin's plans for the future are; he is now on a vacation. It is reported that several changes in foremanships in the Washington round house will also be made.

COUNCIL TOOK FINAL STEPS

In Awarding The Contract For The North Chestnut Street Improvement.

DEGOLYER & SMITH TO DO WORK

Cement Concrete The Material To Be Used.—Business at Special Meeting.

The city council held a special meeting Tuesday evening to formally close the contract for the North Chestnut street improvement, no petition for a change of material having been filed by resident property owners. A resolution presented by Davison was adopted and provided that the mayor sign contract with the lowest bidders, James DeGolyer and W. H. Smith, and that the material used in construction shall be cement concrete. The contractors must furnish a $4000 construction bond and a $2400 maintenance bond.

A petition from property owners on the street was filed asking that John Goodale be appointed inspector on the street to represent the city and property owners during its construction. It was voted to postpone action on the petition as work on the street will not be begun for some time. It has been the understanding that the property owners shall be allowed the privilege of naming the inspector.

The bond for $1000 of Sam Nicholson, garbage collector, was approved. It was signed by George Wolfe and J. C. Hill. Sherman Day reported that there is garbage in the city which has needed removal for months and the chairman of the board of works was instructed to see that collector attends to his duties properly.

Elizabethtown Man Desperate.

A Columbus special says: With a gun shot wound in his left side, which he received in a running battle at Hope today, and declaring that he will never be taken alive, Mead Barr, 33 years old, of Elizabethtown, is defying the officers at the home of a relative in Hope. Marshal Sullivan and George Kemp of Hope attempted to arrest Barr, when fifteen shots were exchanged in a running battle. Barr escaping after he had been wounded and had emptied his revolver.

Several years ago Barr was sentenced to the Indiana Reformatory from Indianapolis for killing a negro, and he is wanted for violating a parole. He is also wanted at Hope on a charge of having broken into and robbed the home of I. B. Ebertson, a wealthy farmer near Hope, last Sunday.

A posse, armed with Winchester rifles, was made up here tonight to go to Hope in an effort to capture Barr, but it was decided to wait until daylight to make the attempt. The warden of the reformatory at Jeffersonville arrived tonight and will accompany the posse.

Louis Spurgeon of near Seymour, is moving to Lawrenceburg.

Ray Keach is at home sick with the grip today.

JESUS' INVITATION

Subject of Sermon at German M. E. Church Tuesday Night.

Rev. W. Brueckner gave another sermon at the German M. E. church Tuesday night. At the close of the service there were two conversions. In speaking on his subject, "The Invitation of Jesus Christ to Us", Mr. Brueckner used the text:

"Behold I stand at the door, and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me." Rev. 3-20.

Remember who this man is that says "Behold I stand at the door and knock"—He is a wonderful person. He who was with the Father from the beginning, before the world was created, before man was made; He who humbled Himself to come to earth and take on the form of flesh and blood; wrought miracles in the sight of men, healed the sick, the lame, the dumb, gave sight to the blind; was the light of the world; was crucified; arose from the dead; ascended to heaven—He it is who is now knocking at your door and wants admittance. "He came unto His own, and His own received Him not, but as many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the sons of God."

No man has any right to walk into the door of your house unless you allow him to. The idea of the door is something into your innermost being, and it is closed when you close it and open when you open it, and all men and even God has a respect for it and will not go farther until you say so, but God is asking you to let Him in. The door is a barrier between you and Him and it must be opened by you—you alone can do it.

The reason so many people are doubters and skeptics is because they never will to do God's will, but will to do their own will. Your thoughts about these things will be forever wrong because your heart is wrong. But Jesus does not only come to the heart in the sense that he would give you a better thought, because after all that will come right when once He comes into your life, so He comes to you that He might appeal to your life.

There is a limit to all things and there is a limit to human life. No one ever was lost because of making a mistake. It is your rejection that causes your doom. He allows us to go to our doom when we reject Him.

Jesus Christ coming into your heart is the only thing that can save you.

Heart to Heart
Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

TO A PLAIN GIRL.

Do not be concerned because of your lack of beauty.

If you should worry about anything respecting yourself let it be because of your lack of goodness or of patience or of sweetness in disposition.

Beauty counts, you say?

Certainly. A man admires a pretty face or figure just as he admires a pretty picture, but it does not follow that he will marry a pretty face for itself alone any more than he would marry a pretty picture.

Men desire substantial rather than ornamental qualities in a wife.

Look about you. Note how many husbands have selected wives with plain features. Those men were looking for soul qualities—the lasting qualities—of womanhood.

Beauty is rather rare, and may cover a multitude of failings. The handsome woman may have great poverty of spirit, a scornful disposition or a cold heart. She may lack the essence of charm or the qualities of happy comradeship in marriage. Men realize this.

Rare exceptions aside, you may depend upon it that the worthy man who falls in love with a pretty woman loves her for something more than beauty.

Admiration is not love. Fascination will not last.

If you are loved by a true man it is because he believes you have virtues that will abide—nobleness of mind, helpfulness of spirit, tenderness, sympathy, true womanliness.

Never mind about the plainness of your features. And do not spend much time on the beauty pages of the Sunday newspapers.

Some good man will find in you the sweetness of soul, beauty of spirit he is looking for and will idealize your plain features into a thing of beauty and a joy forever.

Yes, men care for beauty. But they care more for charm of soul quality and congeniality of spirit.

The girl who is good and wholesome and winsome has a great advantage over the mere beauty who may be vain or frivolous or cold or selfish.

Make yourself attractive, but—

Above all things, cultivate a sweet and gracious spirit. Show appreciation of others. Forget yourself. Be gracious. Some day your true love will find you and seek and win you for what you are—a prize.

OBSERVATIONS.

In time, people with sunny dispositions become as tiresome as fried liver.

If you are unpopular do not worry about it. The fools pester a popular man pretty nearly to death.

After looking the men over carefully, the surprising thing to us is that women are ever jealous.

New York has a population of nearly five millions, several thousand of whom were born in this country.

The women are all right, God bless 'em, but we have noticed very few landlords want them for roomers.

Women like to display their authority so well that we have always regretted they cannot be policemen.

The trouble with the man who would "divide his last dollar with a friend" is that he never has the dollar.

We sometimes think that had we become a Noted Drunkard we should have gotten on better. Every community does a good deal to help its Noted Drunkards, but a sober man is left to fight his way unaided.—Exchange.

CHARLES P. TAFT

President's Brother, Who Will Be Called Before Senate Committee.WILL GET AT BOTTOM OF THE MAJ. RAY CASESenate Committee Will Call On the President's Brother.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The house committee on expenditures in the war department will call Charles P. Taft as an important witness in the case of Major Beecher B. Ray of the pay corps of the army, who it is charged was thrice saved from courtmartial by President Taft. At an executive session of the committee it was agreed that Charles P. Taft should be subpoenaed, although it was not decided just when he should be called.

The committee's decision to subpoena Mr. Taft did not occasion any great surprise around the capital in view of the fact that in President Taft's letter made public the other day giving his reasons for prohibiting Major Ray's courtmartial for a serious offense he referred to the fact that his brother had utilized Major Ray's services in a political way and that Ray had "presumed" upon the value of what he had done.

One feature of this army scandal into which the committee is probing, which is almost as interesting as the decision to summon the president's brother, is the fact that the lost papers in the Ray case have been found. The committee learned a few days ago that most of the documents relating to the proposition to courtmartial Major Ray, on which the president frowned, were missing from the files of the war department. One member of the committee said that when it became known at the war department that the committee was not concerned over the missing documents, having certified copies in its possession, the originals were produced with remarkable celerity.

Rexall Orderlies are unsurpassable and ideal for the use of children, old folks and delicate persons. We cannot too highly recommend them to all sufferers from any form of constipation and its attendant evils. Macaulay an Infant Prodigy.

Macaulay must not be omitted when there is talk of infant prodigies, says London paper. From the age of three he read incessantly, and by the time he was seven he had begun a compendium of universal history. At eight he wrote a treatise designed to convert the natives of Malabar to Christianity, while one visit at an early age to Strawberry Hill was enough to enable him to carry the catalogue of the Oxford collections in his memory ever afterward. At a later date Macaulay expressed the opinion that he could reproduce "Paradise Lost" and "The Pilgrim's Progress" if every existing copy were destroyed.

Kern's Whiskers.

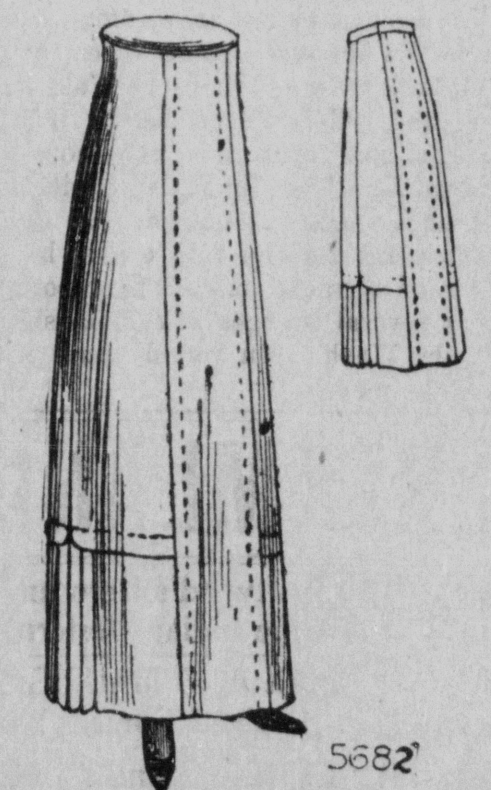

Senator John W. Kern of Indiana recently gave a fairly satisfactory explanation of his whiskers.

"It is a mooted question," said Kern, "what comprises personality. Some say that the eye is the window of the soul. Yet a man who has lost his eyes may have just as much personality as anyone. It's the same if a man loses a leg or an ear. He is still the same man. But with whiskers it is different. A man who has worn whiskers all his life and then suddenly ceases to do so is not the same man. He may be just as good a man, but he is a different man—just as much as if he were to change the shape of his nose or the color of his eyes. Therefore no man who has worn whiskers as long as I have should part with them entirely if he would retain his self-respect. He may trim away the edges, but if he goes too far he treads upon sacred ground; he is tampering with the wondrous works of Nature, and he might as well begin to use rouge and perfumery."

PAPER BAG COOKERY.

First get your bag; suit the size of the bag to the dish to be cooked. Never try to crowd a large roast into a small bag, for it will surely burst. If the bag has a seam in the center, as some makes have, it should be used with the seam side up, then if it bursts the contents can be saved.

Broiled Steak.—Place the steak in a well-greased bag. Olive oil or suet for greasing is good. Place on the oven rack in a hot oven, and bake for fifteen or twenty minutes. The steak will be done to a turn, with all the delicious gravy retained.

For a breakfast that appeals to the taste for novelty, this is worth trying: Put a cup of thick, strained tomato, well seasoned, into a buttered bag, put into a hot oven, and after ten minutes draw out and cut a square from the center of the bag; into this drop four eggs, broken carefully. Cook for three to four minutes and serve from the bag with only the top cut away.

A Delicious Breakfast Dish.—Take cold mashed potatoes left from dinner, make into flat cakes and on each place a cake of sausage; place in a greased bag, put into a hot oven and cook fifteen to twenty minutes.

Liver and Bacon.—Liver and bacon is always a highly appreciated dish. Slice a pound of tender calf's liver, dip each piece into seasoned flour, and place each piece of liver on a rasher of bacon. Grease the bag, put in the liver and bacon and cook for twenty-five minutes. Open the bag and slip out the meat gently on a very hot dish.

Jam buns are a saving of trouble and an easy dessert. Split several buns, dip in hot milk, spread with butter and add a little preserves or jam to each; place in a buttered bag until thoroughly hot.

Serve with fruit juice, cream and sugar or without any sauce.

For a dinner, in which all the vegetables and meat are cooked together in one bag, nothing could be simpler.

STEADFAST CONFIDENCE.

The Following Statement Should Form Conclusive Proof of Merit to Every Seymour Reader.

Could stronger proof of the merit of any remedy be desired than the statements of grateful endorsers who say their confidence has been undiminished by lapse of time? These are the kind of statements that are appearing constantly in your local paper for Doan's Kidney Pills. They are twice-told and confirmed with new enthusiasm. Can any reader doubt the following? It's from a resident of Seymour.

Mrs. Henry Moritz, 528 W. Laurel St., Seymour, Ind., says: "I suffered intensely from lameness across the small of my back and at night I was unable to get my proper rest. The kidney secretions were unnatural and I also had headaches. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and I am now free from kidney complaint." (Statement given in 1906.)

Time Is the Test.

Mrs. Moritz was interviewed on April 14, 1910 and she said: "During the years that have passed since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me, I have had little or no trouble from my kidneys. It is a pleasure to publicly acknowledge the benefit I have received."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

THIS KIDNEY REMEDY
GIVES IMMEDIATE RELIEF.

In 1907 and 1908, I was taken very sick with kidney trouble and being afraid of Bright's Disease, went to a prominent physician at Libertyville, Iowa. After doctoring for some time without cure or benefit, I began the use of Swamp-Root and found immediate relief, which urged me to continue the use of the medicine.

After taking several bottles which I bought at Jericho's Drug Store, in Fairfield, I became a well man and can honestly say that I have never had any signs of Bright's Disease or a return of any kidney trouble.

Yours very truly,

A HARMLESS WAY TO
DARKEN THE HAIRA Little Sage and Sulphur
Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A
Remedy for All Hair Troubles

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

If you have dandruff, or if your hair is thin or turning gray, get a bottle of this remedy from your druggist to-day, and see what it will do for you.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Andrews Drug Co.

CHAPTER XI.

Daylight was in the thick of his spectacular and intensely bitter fight with the Coastwise Steam Navigation Company, and the Hawaiian, Nicaraguan, and Pacific-Mexican Steamship Company. He stirred up a bigger muss than he had anticipated, and even he was astounded at the wide ramifications of the struggle and at the unexpected and incongruous interests that were drawn into it. Every newspaper in San Francisco turned upon him. It was true, one or two of them had first intimated that they were open to subsidization, but Daylight's judgment was that the situation did not warrant such expenditure. Up to this time the press had been amusingly tolerant and good-naturedly sensational about him, but now he was to learn what virulent scurrilousness an antagonized press was capable of. Every episode of his life was resurrected to serve as foundations for malicious fabrications. Daylight was frankly amazed at the new interpretation put upon all that he had accomplished and the deeds he had done. From an Alaskan hero he was metamorphosed into an Alaskan bully, liar, desperado, and all-around "bad man." The whole affair sank to the deeper depths of rancor and savagery. The poor woman who had killed herself was dragged out of her grave and paraded on thousands of reams of paper as a martyr and a victim to Daylight's ferocious brutality.

He was like a big bear raiding a beehive, and, regardless of the stings, he obstinately persisted in pawing for the honey. He gritted his teeth and struck back. Beginning with a raid on two steamship companies, it developed into a pitched battle with a city, state and continental coast line. Allied with him, on a splendid salary, with princely pickings thrown in, was a lawyer, Larry Hegan, a young Irishman with a reputation to make, and whose peculiar genius had been unrecognized until Daylight had picked up with him. It was Hegan who guided Daylight through the intricacies of modern politics, labor organization, and commercial and corporation law. It was Hegan, prolific of resource and suggestion, who opened Daylight's eyes to undreamed-of possibilities in twentieth-century warfare; and it was Daylight, rejecting, accepting, and elaborating, who planned the campaigns and prosecuted them. With the Pacific coast, from Puget Sound to Panama, buzzing and humming, and with San Francisco furiously about his ears, the two big steamship companies had all the appearance of winning. It looked as if Burning Daylight was being beaten slowly to his knees. And then he struck—at the steamship companies, at San Francisco, at the whole Pacific coast.

It was not much of a blow at first. A Christian Endeavor convention was being held in San Francisco, a row was started by Express Drivers' Union No. 927 over the handling of a small heap of baggage at Ferry Building. A few heads were broken, a score of arrests made, and the baggage was delivered. No one would have guessed that behind this petty wrangle was the fine Irish hand of Hegan, made potent by the Klondike gold of Burning Daylight. It was an insignificant affair at best—or so it seemed. But the Teamsters' Union took up the quarrel, backed by the whole Water Front Federation. Step by step, the strike became involved. A refusal of cooks and waiters to serve scab teamsters or teamsters' employers brought out the cooks and waiters. The butchers and meat cutters refused to handle meat destined for unfair restaurants. The combined Employers' Associations put up a solid front, and found facing them the 40,000 organized laborers of San Francisco. The restaurant bakers and the bakery wagon drivers struck, followed by the milkers, milk drivers and chicken pickers. The building trades asserted its position in unambiguous terms, and all San Francisco was in turmoil.

But still, it was only San Francisco. Hegan's intrigues were masterly, and Daylight's campaign steadily developed. The powerful fighting organization known as the Pacific Slope Seamen's Union refused to work vessels the cargoes of which were to be handled by scab longshoremen and freight handlers. The union presented its ultimatum, and then called a strike. This had been Daylight's objective all the time. Every incoming coastwise vessel was boarded by the union officials and its crew sent ashore. And with the seamen went the firemen, the engineers and the sea cooks and waiters. Daily the number of idle steamers increased. It was impossible to get scab crews, for the men of the Seamen's Union were fighters trained in the hard school of the sea, and when they went out it meant blood and death to scabs. This phase of the strike spread up and down the entire Pacific coast, until all the ports were filled with idle ships, and sea transportation was at a standstill. The days and weeks dragged out, and the strike held. The Coastwise Steam Navigation Company and the Hawaiian, Nicaraguan, and Pacific-Mexican Steamship Company were tied up completely. The expenses of combating the strike were tremendous, and they were earning nothing, while daily the situation went from bad to worse, until "peace at any price" became the cry. And still there was no peace, until Daylight and his allies played out their hand, raked in the winnings, and allowed a goodly portion of a continent to resume business.

Daylight's coming to civilization had not improved him. True, he wore better clothes, had learned slightly better manners, and spoke better English. But he had hardened, and at the expense of his old-time, whole-souled geniality. Even his human affiliations were descending. Playing a lone hand, contemptuous of most of the men with whom he played, lacking in sympathy or understanding of them, and certainly independent of them, he found little in common with those to be encountered, say at the Alta-Pacific. In point of fact, when the battle with the steamship companies was at its height and his raid was inflicting incalculable damage on all business interests, he had been asked to resign from the Alta-Pacific. The idea had been rather to his liking, and he had found new quarters in clubs like the Riverside, organized and practically maintained by the city bosses.

One week-end, feeling heavy and depressed and tired of the city and its ways, he obeyed the impulse of a whim that was later to play an important part in his life. The desire to get out of the city for a whiff of country air and for a change of scene was the cause. Yet, to himself, he made the excuse of going to Glen Ellen for the purpose of inspecting a brickyard which Holdsworth had sold him. He spent the night in the little country hotel, and on Sunday morning, astride a saddle horse rented from the Glen Ellen butcher, rode out of the village. The brickyard was close at hand on the flat beside the Sonoma Creek.

Resolving to have his fun first, and to look over the brickyard afterward, he rode up the hill, prospecting for a way across country to get to the knolls. He left the country road at the first gate he came to and cantered through a hayfield. The grain was waist-high on either side the wagon road, and he sniffed the warm aroma of it with delighted nostrils. At the base of the knolls he encountered a tumble-down stake-and-rider fence.

He tethered the horse and wandered on foot among the knolls. Their tops were crowned with century-old spruce trees, and their sides clothed with oaks and madroños and native holly. But to the perfect redwoods belonged the small but deep canyon that threaded its way among the knolls. Here he found no passage out for his horse, and leading the animal, he forced his way up the hillside. On the crest he came through an amazing thicket of velvet-trunked young madroños, and emerged on an open hillside that led down into a tiny valley. The sunshine was at first dazzling in its brightness, and he paused and rested, for he was panting from the exertion. Not of old had he known shortness of breath such as this, and muscles that so easily tired at a stiff climb. A tiny stream ran down the tiny valley through a tiny meadow that was carpeted knee-high with grass and blue and white nemophila.

Crossing the stream, Daylight followed a faint cattle trail over a low, rocky hill and through a wine-wooded forest of manzanita, and emerged upon another tiny valley, down which filtered another spring-fed, meadow-bordered streamlet.

"It sure beats country places and bungalows at Menlo Park," he commended aloud; "and if ever I get the hankering for country life, it's me for this every time."

An old wood-road led him to a clearing, where a dozen acres of grapes grew on wine-red soil. A cow-path, more trees and thickets, and he dropped down a hillside to the southeast exposure. Here, poised above a big forested canyon, and looking out upon Sonoma Valley, was a small farmhouse. With its barn and outhouses it snuggled into a nook in the hillside, which protected it from the west and north. It was the erosion from this hillside, he judged, that had formed the little level stretch of vegetable garden. The soil was fat and black, and there was water in plenty, for he saw several faucets running wide open. Forgotten was the brickyard. Nobody was at home, but Daylight dismounted and ranged the vegetable garden, eating strawberries and green peas, inspecting the old adobe barn and rusty plow and harrow, and rolling and smoking cigarettes while he watched the antics of several broods of young chicks and the mother hens.

Nothing could satisfy his holiday spirit now but the ascent of Sonoma Mountain. And here on the crest, three hours afterward, he emerged, tired and sweaty, garments torn and face and hands scratched, but with sparkling eyes and an unwonted zestfulness of expression. He felt the illicit pleasure of a schoolboy playing truant. The big gaming table of San Francisco seemed very far away. But there was more than illicit pleasure in his mood. It was as though he were going through a sort of cleansing bath. No room here for all the sordidness, meanness and viciousness that filled the dirty pool of city existence. He was loath to depart, and it was not for an hour that he was able to tear himself away and take the descent of the mountain. Working out a new route just for the fun of it, late afternoon was upon him when he arrived back at the wooded knolls.

Daylight cast about for a trail, and found one leading down the side opposite to his ascent. Circling the base of the knoll, he picked up with his horse and rode on to the farmhouse. Smoke was rising from the chimney, and he was quickly in conversation with a nervous, slender young man, who, he learned, was only a tenant on the ranch. How large was it? A matter of one hundred and eighty acres, though it seemed much larger. This was because it was so irregularly shaped. Yes, it included the clay-pit and all the knolls, and its boundary that ran along the big canyon was over a mile long. Oh, yes, he and his wife managed to scratch a living without working too hard. They didn't have to pay much rent. Hillard, the owner, depended on the income from the clay-pit. Hillard was well off and had big ranches and vineyards down on the flat of the valley. The brickyard paid ten cents a cubic yard for the clay. As for the rest of the ranch, the land was good in patches, where it was cleared, like the vegetable garden and the vineyard, but the rest of it was too much up-and-down.

"You're not a farmer," Daylight said.

The young man laughed and shook his head.

"No; I'm a telegraph operator. But the wife and I decided to take a two-years' vacation, and . . . here we are. But the time's about up. I'm going back into the office this fall after I get the grapes off."

As Daylight listened, there came to him a sudden envy of this young fellow living right in the midst of all this which Daylight had traveled through the last few hours.

"What in thunder are you going back to the telegraph office for?" he demanded.

The young man smiled with a certain wistfulness.

"Because we can't get ahead here. . . . (he hesitated an instant), "and because there are added expenses coming. The rent, small as it is, counts; and besides, I'm not strong enough to effectually farm the place. If I owned it, or if I were a real husky like you, I'd ask nothing better. Nor would the wife." Again the wistful smile hovered on his face. "You see, we're country born, and after bucking with cities for a few years, we kind of feel we like the country best. We've planned to get ahead, though, and then some day we'll buy a patch of land and stay with it."

Daylight could not persuade himself to keep to the traveled roads that day, and another cut across country to Glen Ellen brought him upon a canyon that so blocked his way that he was glad to follow a friendly cow-path. This led him to a small frame cabin. The doors and windows were open, and a cat was nursing a litter of kittens in the doorway, but no one seemed at home. He descended the trail that evidently crossed the canyon. Part way down, he met an old man coming up through the sunset. In his hand he carried a pail of foamy milk. He wore no hat, and in his face, framed with snow-white hair and beard, was the ruddy glow and content of the passing summer day. Daylight thought that he had never seen so contented looking a being.

"How old are you, daddy?" he queried.

"Eighty-four," was the reply. "Yes, sirree, eighty-four, and spryer than most."

"You must a' taken good care of yourself," Daylight suggested.

"I don't know about that. I ain't loafed none. I walked across the plains with an ox team and fit injuns in '51, and I was a family man with seven youngsters. I reckon I was as old then as you are now, or pretty nigh on to it."

"Don't you find it lonely here?" The old man shifted the pail of milk and reflected.

"That all depends," he said oracularly. "I ain't never been lonely except when the old wife died. Some fellers are lonely in a crowd, and I'm one of them. That's the only time I'm lonely, is when I go to Frisco. But I don't go no more, thank you 'most to death. This is good enough for me. I've been right here in this valley since '54—one of the first settlers after the Spaniards."

The old man chuckled, and Daylight rode on, singularly at peace with himself and all the world. It seemed that the old contentment of trail and camp he had known on the Yukon had come back to him. He could not shake from his eyes the picture of the old pioneer coming up the trail through the sunset light. He was certainly going some for eighty-four. The thought of following his example entered Daylight's mind, but the big game of San Francisco vetoed the idea.

FACTORY PROPOSITION

Crothersville Expects To Have Important New Industry.

The Warren C. Rude Manufacturing Company at Crothersville has been incorporated with a capital of $30,000. The incorporators are J. M. Rude, W. C. Rude and C. W. Keach. Work on the proposition has been going on for some time and it is expected the factory will be a go and will be an important new industry for Crothersville. The factory has been operating at Covington, Ky. and it is understood the owners offered to move to Crothersville if half of the stock of the company was subscribed for by people of Crothersville. Mr. Keach, who is one of the most progressive men in the community, became much impressed with possibilities of the business. It is proposed to erect a new building and it is expected the factory will give employment to quite a large number of persons. It is understood it will put on the market wooden ware and iron and wood novelties.

Illegal To Sell It.

H. E. Barnard, chief chemist for the state board of health, has his weather eye out for so-called butter made by placing a pound of real butter and pound of milk together in a patented machine and mixing them thoroughly. If any one is found trying to sell the stuff for butter, Barnard avers, he will find the state food law tapping him on the shoulder and inviting him over to police court.

Various parts of the state have been flooded recently with circulars from the concerns manufacturing the machines. The manufacturers say the addition of the milk to the butter makes it more wholesome, makes it go farther, and provides a butter at about half the cost of ordinary butter.

"The only object in working butter," said Barnard, "is to 'work' the milk out of it, and the standard by which butter is gauged is the lack of water and milk contained. The objection to ordinary country butter is that the makers do not 'work' it enough to take out all of the milk. Now we find a group of manufacturers advertising a machine to undo the work of the butter manufacturer, and claiming it will better the food product. When we find a dealer selling butter from which the original milk has not been removed we prosecute him, and we will certainly prosecute any person selling for butter the kind of stuff the patented machines must certainly produce.

"The machines are advertised for household use on the plea that the housewife can make a pound of butter go twice as far. However, the housewife who uses it will merely find she has reduced a pound of good, solid, wholesome butter, capable of keeping sweet for several days, to a milky, mushy mass that will spoil in a short time."

K. of P. Anniversary.

Hermion lodge, Knights of Pythias, observed the anniversary of Pythianism with an entertainment at the hall Tuesday evening which was enjoyed by about two hundred persons including members and prospective candidates for membership.

The principle address was made by John M. Lewis, while other speeches were made Gatch Wheaton, W. L. Johnson and Dr. L. B. Hill.

During the social hour a banquet was served and afterwards came a smoker. About 10 o'clock the company responded to an invitation from J. H. Hopewell, manager of the Nickelodeon, to come and see a film he had secured especially for the occasion. It gave in picture the story of Damon and Pythias.

The evening was thoroughly enjoyed. There were several out-of-town visitors.

HEAVY COST OF STATE CHARITY

In the Past Year It Amounted to $3,681,275 27.

83,871 PERSONS WERE WARDS

Total Cost of Caring For Persons Thus Listed Was Nearly Half as Much as Is Necessary For Maintaining the Entire State Government of Indiana in All of Its Departments For One Year.

Indianapolis, Feb. 21.—For the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1911, the forthcoming annual report of the board of state charities will show that during the year 83,871 persons were wards to a greater or less degree of the state, city, county and township governments, in that they received help some time during the year. Of the total, 11,801 were enrolled in state institutions, charitable, correctional and penal. Those in county poor asylums numbered 3,009. In the county jails there were on Sept. 30, 1,255.

Orphans' homes, on the same date, had 1,560. The estimated population of town and city jails was 100 on the date named.

Township trustees aided 43,227 persons, and the truant officers of the state took to the schools 22,919 truants. The total cost for caring for all persons listed was $3,681,275.27, or nearly one-half as much as is necessary for maintaining the entire state government for one year, including all institutions, the capitol, the three state schools and the state's share of the common school tuition. The outdoor relief, or relief afforded persons not in any institution, cost the townships $266,181.16.

ALL A JOKE

That Is What Iron Workers' Secretary Says of Bomb Resolution.

Indianapolis, Feb. 21.—Secretary-Treasurer Hockin of the iron workers says that he recalls the reason for the introduction of the resolution at the Rochester convention, a photographic copy of which is in the hands of the district attorney, and that it was offered in a spirit of fun. During the session a delegate placed a fire-cracker under the chair of W. C. McCain of Kansas City, and when it exploded there was considerable excitement in the convention. It was then that a delegate offered the "bomb" resolution, he said, and it was possible that Secretary McNamara got hold of it and placed it with the records of the convention proceedings. "That's all there is in the bomb story," said Hockin.

The Dates Conflicted.

Indianapolis, Feb. 21.—Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the state board of health, has received notice that tuberculosis Sunday has been changed to next fall, date not yet agreed upon. The date originally selected was April 28, but the National Association for Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, under the auspices of which tuberculosis Sunday is observed, found the date conflicted with Conservation Sunday.

Word From Joseph Miller.

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 21.—Joseph Miller, secretary of the German Savings association for three years before he decamped several months ago, leaving a shortage of more than $5,000, has written from his former home in Vienna, saying he has a good position there, and that he "regrets he left Terre Haute under bad circumstances." The association is now in the control of a receiver.

He Was Disappointed.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Profound disappointment on receiving intimations that Secretary Knox did not contemplate giving Colombia any assurance of the ultimate arbitration of her claims against the United States was generally ascribed as the reason for the expression from the Colombian minister that a visit by Mr. Knox to his country at the present time would be "inopportune."

Legislative Corruption Alleged.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 21.—Direct charges that Senator Richard Fitzherbert of Morris county solicited a $5,000 bribe were made before the senate committee on judiciary. Senator Fitzherbert denies the charges, but the senate in executive session has ordered that a complete investigation be made. The charges created a great sensation at the capitol.

Shreveport, La., Feb. 21.—During Mardi Gras celebration here yesterday afternoon the outer districts of this city were swept by a cyclone from the west. Eight persons were killed instantly and a score injured. The property loss from the storm totals $200,000.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER AROUSES THE PEOPLE

Southern Fiend Has Now Wiped Out Seven Families.

Beaumont, Tex., Feb. 21.—The people of the western part of Louisiana and eastern part of Texas are aroused by the mysterious murder here of the Pattedove family, colored, consisting of mother, three daughters and one son. This makes the seventh family and thirty victims of this fiend within a dozen weeks, and in each case an ax was the weapon used, and in each case no motive has been discovered. The police are inclined to believe it is a religious fanatic, but so carefully has he covered up his tracks that the officers are without clue.

The first crime was committed less than three months ago at Rayne, La., when five members of a family were killed. The next was at Crowley, when a family of five was killed. Two families at Lafayette of four each, a family of five at Lake Charles, another family of three at Crowley.

The police believe it is the work of a white man, and the entire country is being searched for him. Rewards offered now aggregate nearly $25,000 for his capture. In many of the negro settlements the inhabitants are terror-stricken and refuse to leave their homes and are arming themselves.

DICTOGRAPH O. K.

Ohio Supreme Court Puts Seal of Approval Upon Mechanical Spy.

Columbus, O., Feb. 21.—By a decision of the supreme court, the use of the dictograph in convicting corrupt legislators, attaches and lobbyists is upheld. The court did not report its decision, which was in the case of Rodney J. Diegel, former senate sergeant-at-arms, convicted last July of connection with the alleged bribing of Senator Andrews. The state's case would have fallen through but for the admission of the dictograph testimony, which confirmed the claim that a bribery conspiracy had been hatched and Diegel made the go-between. The supreme court sustained the lower courts and Diegel will probably go to prison to serve a term of three years.

Trapper Shot From Ambush.

Bardwell, Ky., Feb. 21.—Charles Bear, a trapper living on Mayfield creek, was shot from ambush when he opened his door to get wood. The shot shattered Bear's arm. No clue nor cause for the shooting is known.

Gave Himself Up.

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 21.—Frank Neiding went to police headquarters and, saying "they would have got me some time; I am tired of dodging," told of forging his mother's name at Washington, Ind., for $100.

In Jackson County.
The United States Department of Agriculture calls attention to the fact that European foul brood, a disease of honey bees, has been found to exist in Jackson county. The department has no means of knowing how long the disease has existed in the region, but desires to notify bee keepers of the trouble and to suggest that, if not already informed concerning the disease, they inform themselves at once. Very frequently colonies of bees are destroyed by disease and the loss it attributed by the bee keeper to some other cause. Farmers' Bulletin No. 442, The Treatment of Bee Diseases, gives a description of the brood diseases and methods of treatment. It will be sent free on request to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Attention is also called to the fact that the brood diseases do not at all injure honey for human consumption, so that there need be no fear on the part of purchasers of honey.

Farewell Banquet.

The Masons, colored, gave a farewell banquet Tuesday evening at their hall in honor of Andrew T. Foster, who is to move to Indianapolis. The Masons and their families were present and a sumptuous three course feast was served.

Speeches were made by Walter Goens and several other brothers and a history of the lodge was read by R. G. Stewart. Mr. Foster has presided over the lodge for many years and the farewell was sad and touching.

D. W. Caine was master of ceremonies at the banquet.

MOSE NOT HARD TO SATISFY

As Far as Prisoner Was Concerned,
He Was Willing to Let the Matter Drop.

Bozeman Bulger, a baseball writer, says that in his home town, down in Southern Alabama, a negro was brought into court to answer a charge of murder.

"Mose Tupper," said the judge, contemplating the prisoner over his spectacles, "you are accused here of one of the most serious crimes known to our laws—towit, the taking of a human life. Are you properly represented by counsel?"

"No, suh," said the darky cheerfully.

"Well, have you talked to any one about your defense since your arrest?"

"I told the sheriff about the shootin' when he come to my cabin to fetch me heah," said the prisoner—"but tha's all."

"And have you taken no steps whatever to engage a lawyer?"

"No, suh," said Mose. "I ain't got no money to be wastin' on lawyers. Dey tell me lawyers is mighty costly."

"If you have no funds," insisted the judge, "it lies within the power of the court to appoint an attorney to defend you without charge."

"You needn't be botherin' yo'self, judge," answered Mose.

"Well, what do you propose to do about this case?" demanded his honor.

"Jedge," said the negro, "ez fur ez Ise concerned you kin jes' let de matter drap!"—Saturday Evening Post.

Curran and the Irish Chief Justice.

Lord Norbury held his post as Irish chief justice, in defiance of hints that he should resign, until he was 87. When he was 86 it was suggested to him very strongly by the Lord Lieutenant that he ought to go, but the negotiations were broken off by Norbury challenging the envoy to fight. His rambling and irrelevant comments often annoyed counsel. Once when he was maundering on he was interrupted by a sound which he only partially heard but which was really the braying of a donkey. "What noise was that?" he asked. "Merely an echo of the court, m'lud," replied Curran gravely.

Another judge called Fletcher, a very surly person, said to counsel, "Sir, I'll not sit here to be baited like a bear tied to the stake." "No, not tied, m'lud," was the suave interruption.—Westminster Gazette.

Shows Increase.

An increase in the prison and reformatory population of Indiana from 1,371 to 2,396, or from 6.3 to 8.5 per 10,000, is reported by the state board of charities for the fiscal year, ending Sept. 30, 1911. The comparison is made with the year 1891. The dependent children of the state also show a gain of 545 or 50 per cent. when compared with 1891.

According to the report there were a total of 83,871 who depended upon public charity in 1910. Of the 83,871 dependents, 11,801 were enrolled in the state institutions, 3,009 in the poor asylums, 1,225 in county jails, 1,560 in the orphan homes and 100 were in city jails. The township trustees aided 43,227 during the year and 22,919 truants were brought into school.

State institutions cost $2,384,678.44 in 1910, nearly all of which was for maintenance. County poor asylums added $572,372.39; dependent children, $212,627.09; county jails, $212,455.19 and outdoor poor relief, $266,181.16.

FIERCE BATTLE AT GUERNAVACA

Hundreds Slain and Engagement
Not Yet Ended.

THE FEDERALS ARE JUBILANT

Report Has It That When the Battle Was Suspended Last Night, Both Sides Being Too Weary to Continue, the Rebels Had No Chance to Win and the Government Troops Were Preparing to Press Advantage.

Mexico City, Feb. 21.—Yesterday the battle between the federals and rebels at Guernavaca was resumed. The rebels decided to push their artillery up to the base of Horseshoe Hill. They directed their fire at the right wing of the federals, killing twenty and wounding eighteen. The rurales under Colonel Lugo charged terrifically and brought the federal position up to the first trenches.

The hardest fighting Monday was in the blackened ruins of Santa Maria. There were scores of bodies, mostly those of rebels, on the side of Cruz de Piedra. The hill was plowed by shells and dozens of bodies were lying on the ground up and down the slopes. The trees on the side of the hill were cut down almost to stumps by rifle balls. A conservative estimate of the rebel dead is 200, including those executed afterward, and seventy-five federals.

The battle was suspended at 6 o'clock last evening, both sides being weary. The federals are jubilant over the work of the day. Reinforcements are hurrying to press the advantage that was gained. There is no chance of the rebels winning the battle. There were two federal captains and three sergeants killed in the fighting against the right wing.

It is not known who the rebel leader is, but he is making a desperate fight.

HARD LUCK

Pennay Flyer Wrecked For the Third Time Within a Week.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 21.—The Pennsylvania eighteen-hour flyer ran into a draft of freight cars that had been shifted to the passenger tracks through an error, a short distance west of Middletown. The engine of the special and the shifting engine were demolished, and two firemen were seriously injured. None of the passengers was hurt, although many received a severe shaking up.

An Official Investigation.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 21.—A special session of the grand jury will be called at Columbia City in a few days to probe the rear-end collision on the Pennsylvania railroad last Saturday morning at Larwill, and return, if evidence warrants, indictments for manslaughter against the member or members of the crew to blame for the wreck in which four were killed.

Tunnel Choked With Wreckage.

North Adams, Mass., Feb. 21.—Several trainmen were killed and Hoosac tunnel is choked with the burning debris as the result of a collision of an outbound Boston & Maine passenger express train and a string of freight cars. It is probable the tracks will not be cleared for two days.

Man Arrested on Charge of Robbing Train Near Piedmont.

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 21.—Seven hours after a lone masked bandit held up a Baltimore & Ohio train near Piedmont, getting $600 in loot, a man giving the name of F. A. Becker was arrested near Altamont. The man had $122.30 in money, four watches said to correspond with those taken from passengers, and two revolvers. He was lodged in jail at Keyser, W. Va. The prisoner said another man gave him the money and watches found on him.

Art Circles Interested.

Berlin, Feb. 21.—A crowd of people prominent in the art world attended the sale of the old masters which were the property of the late Herr Weber and which formerly graced the town hall of Hamburg. DEMANDS PARDON

Attorney General Carmody of New York Busy in Behalf of Brandt.

New York, Feb. 21.—Immediately after Judge Hand adjourned the Brandt pardon hearing yesterday afternoon on the ground that Governor Dix must take the responsibility of allowing Mortimer L. Schiff and Howard S. Gans to testify, Attorney General Carmody caught the first fast train for Albany to tell the governor that unless Brandt is pardoned at once, Supreme Court Justice Gerard will sustain the writ of habeas corpus and probably denounce the prosecution of Brandt as a travesty of justice.

FREE LEGAL ADVICE FOR THE CITY POOR

Indianapolis Gets In Line With Larger Cities.

Indianapolis, Feb. 21.—In the offices of the Charity Organization society a bureau where the poor may receive legal advice and obtain the services of attorneys free will be maintained. Several attorneys and others interested in the plan have arranged to place the bureau on a working basis immediately.

Similar bureaus are maintained by the charity organizations in other large cities. Under the plan adopted attorneys of the bar association will be chosen to take care of the work each month. It will be the aim of the bureau to settle disputes which arise among the poor in regard to wages, real estate alterations and the proper care of children. Romney Willson, who is interested in the juvenile court work, has volunteered his services. T. J. Moll, dean of the Central American law school, has offered the services of the senior students in the school.

Says Charge Is a Plot.

Maysville, Ky., Feb. 21.—Anson Wilker, a Fleming county farmer, for five years old, charged with attacking ten-year-old Mary Yandis Carpenter, was brought to jail here for safekeeping. Walker says the charge is merely a plot to injure him. The authorities are prepared against mob violence.

Kentucky Lynching Averted.

Bardwell, Ky., Feb. 21.—Willis Richardson was rushed out of the jail here and taken to the jail at Wickliffe for safekeeping, as a mob was being formed at Milburn to come to Bardwell and lynch him. Richardson murdered John Violet, a prominent farmer of Milburn.

Officials of the interstate commerce commission would not be surprised if a movement were inaugurated this spring by the railroads in eastern territory to secure a horizontal increase in freight rates.

CAREFUL MAN'S OPINION

Business men are careful about what they say—it is part of their training. Therefore when Mr. J. G. Clarke, a business man of Westchester, N. Y., answered a question about his greatly improved health his opinion may be considered correct.

He said "Having been troubled with a bad cough and bronchitis for nearly a year, I decided to take Vinol a short time ago. The cough has now disappeared and my health is very much improved."

"I certainly consider Vinol a valuable remedy and should be kept in every home—until people try it they don't know its value."

Thousands of other intelligent people praise Vinol simply because they have found it just what they needed to drive away lingering coughs and build up their health and strength.

Vinol is a delicious cod liver and iron preparation without oil, and is the greatest strength renewer for all who are weak and run down. We guarantee it to give perfect satisfaction. Andrews Drug Co., Seymour, Ind.

LIKE STROKE OF LIGHTNING

Veteran Soldier Tells How Wound Affects Fighter on the Field of Battle.

General Miles in his book, "Serving the Republic," says that, like every other soldier who has seen much active service, he is often asked how it feels to be wounded. He himself was wounded four times, and twice almost fatally, so he is able to speak from experience. He says: "One is often asked how it seems to be wounded in battle. The flight of a bullet is quicker than thought, and has passed through a flesh wound before one realizes that he has been struck. I have seen bodies of men dead on the field of battle where the brain had been pierced and death had been instantaneous. They would remain in every position of the manual of arms, with an anxious look, a frown or a smile on their cold and rigid faces. My wounds received at Fair Oaks, Fredericksburg and Petersburg were flesh wounds, and disabled me but a short time. While riding down the line at Chancellorsville one of the enemy's bullets struck my metallic belt plate with great force. This caused a slight deviation as it entered the body. The result was an instant deadly sickening sensation; my sword dropped from my right hand, my scabbard and belt dropped to the left; I was completely paralyzed below the waist. My horse seemed to realize what had occurred; he stopped, turned and walked slowly back—I holding to the pommel of the saddle with my hands. We soon reached a group of soldiers, who took me off and, placing me in a blanket, carried me to the Chancellorsville House, and pulled a dead man off a couch to make room for me."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HENRY GEORGE, JR.

Congressman Couldn't Endure Sight of Suffering Indians.

DREADFUL PLIGHT OF A VANISHING PEOPLE

White Earth Indians Ridden By White Man's Diseases.

Detroit, Minn., Feb. 21.—In the cold and darkness Henry George, jr., representative in congress from New York stood outside an Indian hovel at the southeastern corner of the White Earth reservation. He was in a party of men whose shadows were thrown on the snow and trees by a single lantern. The reason Congressman George had not gone into the shack was that he had "seen enough."

Presently James Graham of Illinois, member of congress and chairman of the White Earth investigating committee, came stooping out of the log hut. It was the first time the men with the power to correct had ever gone directly among those who had the ghastly evidence to show. And this, in brief, is what they learned:

Every man, woman and child in the neighborhood of Pine Point, the so-called full-blood district, has trachoma. The population of this territory is about 500. Scores already are blind. A certain dreadful disease has laid hold of 40 per cent of the 500 Indians, including children. Approximately 25 per cent have tuberculosis. Food supplies are either pitifully insufficient or irregular in their arrival. The destitution, squalor and evidences of lost hope are heartrending.

Ponsford, a village a few hundred feet across the reservation, is handing out whisky from "blind pigs." Poverty stricken "homes" are found everywhere on the reservation. Very few of the Indians are living on land they own. Many mixed bloods and a few full-bloods are doing well.

A Tragic Possibility. Uncle Leven, a grizzled old wood sawyer, was told by a lady for whom he had been working to wait in the kitchen for his supper. Aunt Caroline, the cook, filled his plate with choice bits from the "great house" table, and Uncle Leven fell upon them with relish. Soon, however, a cloud crossed his face.

"What all you, Unc' Leven?" asked Aunt Caroline solicitously. "Is you got er pain?"

"Tain't dat, Sis' Calline," said Uncle Leven, "but I's 'feared I'll git fild up befo' I eats all I wants."—Youth's Companion.

After Sizing Him Up.

The jury in the breach of promise case had just filed in.

The Judge—What is your verdict, gentlemen?

The Foreman—We award the plaintiff $250.

The Judge—Will the defendant stand up? I request the jury to look him over. And now I want to ask your foreman if he punctuated that amount properly? Wasn't it $250? Very well; next case.

Not Tender All Over.

A beggar had been for a long time besieging an old, gouty, testy, limping gentleman, who refused his mite with great irritability, upon which the mendicant said:

"Ah, please your honor's honor, I wish providence had made your heart half as tender as your feet."—Tit-Bits.

Why Not?

The days are growing longer. The nights begin to shrink; Why not let your hopes be stronger, And put doubt upon the blink?

The Only Place to Escape.

"Where is he from?" "I don't know, but I think he was raised on a desert island." "What in the world makes you think that?" "He says no woman ever made a fool of him."

Sweet Innocence.

"I never am at my best," he said, "unless I get at least eight hours of sleep every night." "What late hours you must be in the habit of keeping," she innocently replied.—Judge.

Arthur Footlight (who has been playing Hamlet)—If I must have eggs, by all means let them be hard boiled.

NO DINNER FOR HIM.

Rear Admiral Osterhaus at a luncheon in New York said of a naval disappointment:

"It was as disappointing as absent-minded Ibsen's Christmas dinner. 'Ibsen, you know, ran absent-mindedly one Christmas night into the restaurant of a railway station and asked:

"'Look here, waiter, did you say I had twenty minutes to wait or that it was twenty minutes to 8?"

"The Tipperary waiter stopped carving a turkey long enough to reply:

"'I said nayther. I said ye had twenty minutes to ate, but that was nineteen minutes ago. There's yer thrain whistlin' fur ye now.'"—Washington Star.

Sincere Approval.

"The piano we sold you," said the merchant, "was it satisfactory?"

"Perfectly," replied Mr. Cumrox. "We've had it tested and it's all right. My daughter and three music teachers tried out all kinds of Wagner on it, and it stood up in a way that shows regular tunes won't be any strain at all."

HIS EXPERIENCE.

The Quoter—Art is long. The Artist—Huh! Sometimes it isn't long enough to make both ends meet.

A Lover of Ease.

"I don't ask much," said Richard Keep. "I only wish All through the winter months to sleep. In spring to fish."

He Missed One.

"Who's the guy with the long hair I waited on just now?" asked the tall waiter.

"Oh, he's a palmist," replied the waiter at the next table.

"A palmist?"

"Yes, a palmist."

"Well, gee? He never looked at mine!"

The Altruist.

S.S.S. NATURE'S CURE FOR BLOOD POISON

S. S. S. is known as Nature's Cure for Contagious Blood Poison because it is prepared entirely from the blood purifying and healing extracts of roots, herbs and barks taken directly from the natural forests of the land. It does not contain the least particle of strong mineral ingredients, and is so prepared as to aid in the rebuilding of every portion of the system, while driving Contagious Blood Poison from the blood. No unpleasant effects ever follow the use of S. S. S., such as stomach troubles, dyspepsia, mercurial rheumatism, etc., as is so often the case where other medicines are used. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and gently but surely drives out every trace of the disease, cleanses and purifies the circulation, and by its fine vegetable tonic effects, assists the system to rapidly overcome the ravages of the disease, and regain its natural healthful condition. S. S. S. does not cover up or hide the symptoms for awhile, to break out later, but so thoroughly does it remove the cause that no signs of the trouble ever return. S. S. S., Nature's cure, is the surest and safest remedy for Contagious Blood Poison. Home Treatment Book with valuable suggestions and information, and any medical advice free to all who write.

A LIVE SUBJECT IN OPEN SENATE

Stephenson Case Promises to Be Sensational.

OLD SENATOR MAY LOSE SEAT

Reports of the Committee Investigating the Charges of "Corrupt Methods and Practices" in the Wisconsin Case Have Focalized the Matter in Such a Way That Acrimonious Debate Cannot Now Be Avoided.

Washington, Feb. 21.—In the next few weeks the case of Senator Isaac Stephenson is likely to attract as much attention as did the Lorimer case when it was a live subject in the open senate.

It looked for a time as if the Stephenson case would be allowed to go by default. A month ago nobody believed the senate would give any serious consideration to it, because it was understood that the charges of "corrupt methods and practices" had not been proven and there was a general feeling that the charges against Senator Stephenson were inspired by his political enemies in Wisconsin, who had failed to produce the evidence to sustain the charges, but it is a serious question today whether Senator Stephenson can retain his seat. It looks now as if a majority of the Democratic and certainly all of the so-called progressive Republicans in the senate would demand the unseating of the oldest member of the senate. At the same time a large number of conservative Republicans are disturbed over the disclosures, and it is a question whether they still feel that they can afford to vote to allow Mr. Stephenson to retain his seat in the face of the reports that have been submitted in the case. It is absolutely certain there is going to be a long and acrimonious debate.

Two Reports Submitted.

The renewal of interest in the Stephenson case is due to the character of the reports submitted. The majority report briefly recites that the senator from Wisconsin is entitled to his seat and that the charges of corrupt methods and practices have not been proven. If this had been the end of the matter the senate might have still remained dormant, but the chairman of the investigating committee, Senator Heyburn of Idaho, felt impelled to submit his views as an individual member of the committee, and in it he condemned the expenditure of a large sum of money which Senator Stephenson admittedly spent, and also took a whack at Stephenson's managers for carrying out of the state certain documents that might have been material evidence in the case. Then two other members of the committee, Senators Sutherland and Pomerene, joined in a report which was even more scathing in its condemnation of the methods of Senator Stephenson's managers and especially as to corrupt use of money. Finally a minority report from the committee went in, which recommended that Mr. Stephenson be unseated on the ground that the evidence submitted before the committee of the expenditure of so large a sum as $107,000 was prima facie evidence of corruption and that Senator Stephenson's managers had not produced evidence to overcome this presumption of guilt, and therefore he ought to surrender his seat.

Some of Senator Stephenson's friends are moving quietly around the senate urging senators to use their influence to bring an early vote on the case. Senator Lea of Tennessee, who joined in the minority report will open the debate against Senator Stephenson. The spectacle of the youngest senator leading an attack upon the oldest member of the body and demanding that his seat be declared vacant because it was obtained by corruption will be one that is probably without precedent in the history of the senate so the old-timers say.

FREE SUGAR

This May Be Outcome of Split in Ways and Means Committee.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Being absolutely unable to agree on a bill revising the sugar schedule of the Payne Aldrich tariff law, the Democrats of the ways and means committee are now considering the wisdom of putting sugar on the free list and raising the $53,000,000 of revenue that would be lost thereby, either through an internal revenue tax on the refined product or through the imposition of extremely heavy duties on silk stockings and other luxuries.

Dry Starch Lets Go.

Waukegan, Ill., Feb. 21.—The Corn Products company's dry starch factory here, which was demolished by an explosion eight years ago, killing four men, was again destroyed yesterday in a similar manner. This time two employees were injured, but not fatally. The loss is $40,000.
